

Are

we

there

yet?

**-

Our

rights

our

say.

This information is from Sally Holland.

Sally Holland is the Children's Commissioner for Wales.

We

spoke

to

children and young people from

Wales,

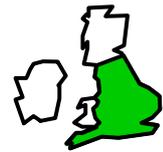

Scotland,

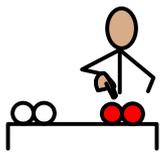

Northern Ireland

and

England.

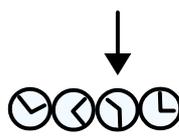

These

countries

are

sometimes

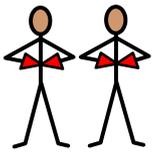

called

the

United Kingdom (UK).

We

asked

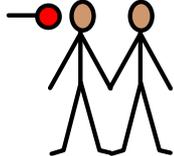

children and young people

questions

about

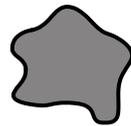

their

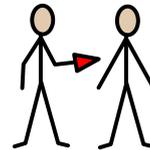

children's rights.

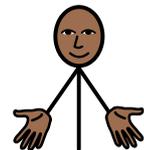

Children's rights

are the things

you

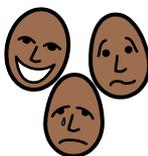

need

to grow up

feeling

happy,

healthy

and

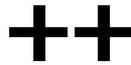

safe.

Children's rights

can also be

called

the

United Nations

Convention

on the

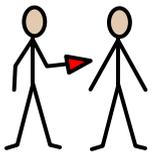

Rights

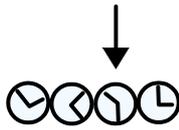

of the

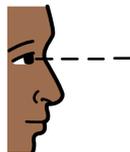

Child.

You

sometimes

see

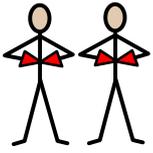

it

called

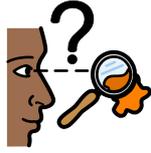

the

UNCRC.

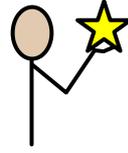

We

found out

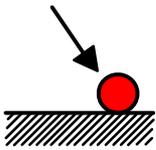

some

important

things:

1. There

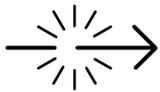

have been

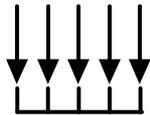

some

good things

happening

in every country.

But

we

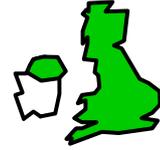

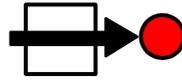

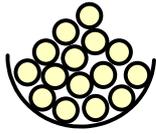

have

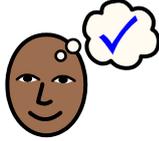

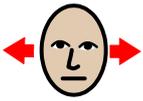

lots

to improve.

2. Lots of young people across the UK do not know what the UNCRC is.

3. Some children and young people are not treated fairly. They do not get all of their children's rights.

4. Children are sometimes ignored or not taken seriously.

5. Young people were worried about mental health. Young people wanted more support and better care.

6. Children living in poverty miss out on the opportunities that other children have.

What

will

Sally

do

with the information?

Sally

will

give

the

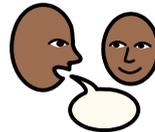

information

to the

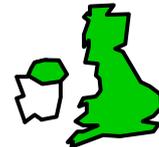

United Nations

who will

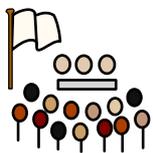

tell

the

UK

government

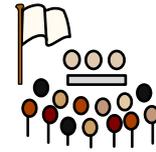

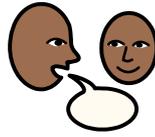

how

to improve.

The United Nations tell the government what they should

do

better

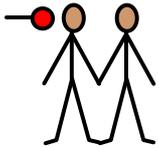

so

children

get

their

children's rights.