Your Rights Journey

This will be Sally's last Special Mission, so we thought it would be nice for you work with your teacher and think about your school's rights journey.

Some schools will have a long rights journey and some schools will be at the start of their journey.

We have created a plan for you to use. If you are new to rights we have added some extra ideas, you can find them next to the * symbol.

Before you start mapping your journey watch this video from our Participation team. In the video they share our rights journey and it might help you think about what your road map will look like.

When you've finished your map then you can share it with us on Twitter by tweeting @childcomwales or via email post@childcomwales.org.uk

Plan for Your Rights Journey

1. Draw your road map. At the start of the road add the year you started learning about rights and at the end of the road add the year 2022.
2. Look at our list of Special Missions and add the ones your school has done to your road map.

*If you haven't done a Special Mission yet you could choose one you'd like to try in the future and add them to your road.
3. Think about your favourite Special Mission and add it to your map. Make sure you explain why it was your favourite.
4. Next, draw an "Imagination Station" and write the most creative thing you've done to learn about rights. This could be a display you've made; a game you've created or a song you sing.

*If you haven't started learning about rights yet, then you could think about something you would like to create for everyone in your school.
5. Think about your "Three Stars and a Wish". This is three things you think you do well and one thing you would like to do next to learn about children's rights in your school.
6. Share your journey with us. You can do that by tweeting @childcomwales or by emailing post@childcomwales.org.uk
