Your Rights Journey

With Sally coming to the end of her term as Children's Commissioner, this will be her last Rights Activity. We would like you to take the opportunity to reflect on your school's rights journey. We thought it would be a good opportunity for you to think about the work you have done already and set some goals for the future too.

Some schools will have a long rights journey and some schools will be at the start of their journey. Below is a plan to support you while you create your rights journey. If you are new to rights we have added some extra ideas, you can find them next to the * symbol.

Before you start mapping your journey watch this video from our Participation team. In the video they share our rights journey and it might help you think about what your road map will look like.

When you've finished your map then you can share it with us on Twitter by tweeting @childcomwales or via email post@childcomwales.org.uk

Planning your rights journey

Follow this plan if you have done lots of work on children's rights.

1. Draw your road map. At the start of the road add the year you started learning about rights and at the end of the road add the year 2022.
2. Look at our list of Rights Activities and add the ones your school has done to your road map.

* If you haven't done a Rights Activity yet you could choose some you'd like to try in the future and add them to your road.
3. Think about your favourite Rights Activity and add it to your map. Make sure you explain why it was your favourite.
4. Next, draw an "Imagination Station" and write the most creative thing you've done to learn about rights. This could be a display you've made; a game you've created or an event you've held.

* If you haven't started learning about rights yet, then you could think about something you would like to create for everyone in your school.
5. Think about your "Three Stars and a Wish". This is three things you think you do well and one thing you would like to do next to learn about children's rights in your school.
6. Share your journey with us. You can do that by tweeting @childcomwales or by emailing post@childcomwales.org.uk
